MAJOR H. J. BINNIE

Major H. J. Binnie, junior major, was born at Windsor, Berkshire, England. He enlisted in the 7th Queen's Own Hussars on 12th May, 1885, at Aldershot; was transferred to the 1st Life Guards in October, 1886; and served with the latter regiment until May, 1906. On leaving the service, he held the rank of quartermaster-corporal-major, and was granted the Long Service Medal.

Coming to Canada, Major Binnie joined the 22nd Light Horse and was appointed provisional captain in June, 1910; on re-organisation in April, 1911, he was appointed captain and second in command of "B" Co., 29th Light Horse.

When the 65th Overseas Battalion was authorised he was appointed captain and adjutant on 26th July, 1915, and promoted to his present rank on 23rd March, 1916.

Major Binnie comes of a military family. His grandfather was quartermaster and his father held the rank of major, both in the 1st Life Guards.

MAJOR H. J. BINNIE

On July 21 the evening paper announced that J. F. Cairns and the staff of his departmental store in Saskatoon had offered a machine gun and a quota of men to the 65th. This was the first contribution from private sources.

The same day the officer commanding Military District No. 10 gazetted Capt. H. J. Binnie, of the 29th Light Horse, as adjutant of the 65th. Lieut. J. H. Lowrie was also appointed honorary captain and paymaster of the unit. Contingent orders contained the appointments of Lieuts. D. Stewart, H. V. Mighton, W. C. Simpson, E. Inskip, I. M. McConnell, F. M. Leader, I. P. Falkner, and C. W. Armstrong to the battalion.

Major W. A. Groves, A.M.C., was attached to the battalion on July 30 as medical officer.

That a draft of 250 men and five subalterns was to hold itself in readiness for a move to the front was the order received from Ottawa on Aug. 2. The 65th then had 170 men in training. On Sept. 20 the draft, composed of 134 N.C.O.'s and men from Saskatoon, and 116 from Prince Albert, left the city for Shorncliffe. These soldiers are now in the trenches, and some have already given their lives.

The citizens of Kindersley, Sask., on July 23, showed their patriotism by deciding to offer $1,000 to the battalion to aid in fitting out the machine gun section.

Major Young was transferred from the 9th Canadian Mounted Rifles to the 65th on August 6, and three days later Major J. D. Gunn was appointed second in command of the battalion. In the same orders, Lieut. A. B. Wilkes was appointed quartermaster, and Capt. C. C. McClellan and Lieuts. G. G. Blackstock, W. C. McIntosh, J. S. Leigh, M. L. G. Armstrong, T. H. Gunn, W. L. Wray, E. U. L. Reid and O. C. Harper were given places in the 65th.

Pins for showing the battalion at the exhibition grounds during the summer were commenced on Aug. 11, leading up to the buildings being made among the most complete and comfortable in Western Canada.

On August 13 the provincial treasury presented a cheque for $1,500 to the battalion. This was to aid in equipping the regimental band.

Between July 12, 1915, and March 31, 1916, a total of 1,621 men were enlisted. This number includes those who, for various reasons, were later discharged from the battalion. Of these, the majority were Roumans, who were taken on the strength of the unit before the department of militia ruled that they could not be enroled.

The battalion also transferred 22 N.C.O.'s and men to recruit a "C" when Prince Albert was included.

The government will issue eight machine guns of the Lewis type to the 65th. A signalling section has been formed, also a bugle and drum herd. In addition to the regimental brass band, H. W. Reeder was bandmaster until recently when he qualified for a lieutenancy, and Bandmaster Gathercole took control. The people of

MAJOR J. D. GUNN

Major J. D. Gunn, second in command, was born in Springfield, Man., in 1880, and came to Saskatoon in 1906, to take up the position of manager of the National Trust Company. He was appointed lieutenant in the 22nd Light Horse in 1910, and transferred to the 29th Light Horse on its organisation. He was appointed second in command of the 65th Battalion on 6th August, 1915.

MAJOR W. A. GROVES

Major W. A. Groves, medical officer, was born in Fergus, Ont. He took his degree in arts and medicine at Toronto University, and practised in Ontario for five years.

Major Groves has seen many years' service in the Canadian militia, which he joined in 1898. He served as a private in the 30th Wellington Rifles; was made a lieutenant in 1899, and medical officer in 1905; was gazetted captain in 1906; major, 1910. On the organisation of the 65th Battalion he received the appointment of medical officer with the rank of major.

On the afternoon of April 15 fire broke out in the straw storage building at the exhibition grounds, and, fanned by a strong north wind, completely destroyed seven barns within half an hour. The machinery hall was saved, after a determined fight on the part of the Saskatoon fire brigade and the men of the battalion. Soldiers on leave in the city were marched at the double to the exhibition grounds and took ~~hand~~ in the fire fighting. Patients in the military hospital were rescued in blankets, uninjured. The Army Service Corps, quartermaster's stores, sergeants' mess, and cook-house were gutted.

The battalion quickly recovered from the shock of the fire and were the guests of the 96th Highlanders until temporary quarters were fitted up.

The personnel of the battalion includes men from all over Canada, though the majority hale from Northern Saskatchewan. The 65th is now the senior unit in Military District No. 10, and no time will be lost in getting into the firing line.

THE SIXTY-FIFTH

The Sixty-Fifth to the war are gone,
In the ranks of Victory you'll find them;
The Land of War still on before,
And the Land of Love behind them.
"Canada" cried the warriors bold,
"Tho' chains of steel should bind us,
'Gainst duty's call they would not hold—
Though we leave our hearts behind us."

The Sixty-Fifth from the war shall come
When the last proud foe surrenders,
With peal of trumpet, roll of drum—
Greater Britain's proud defenders.
"Motherland!" they will cry that day,
Though links of steel have bound them—
Our work is done: we're changed each one
To a chain of love around thee!"

G. BURDETT

G. Burdett joined the 16th (The King's) Hussars on the 26th of August, 1889, at the age of 19, and went to Scotland, where he took his first training. Afterward, he proceeded with the regiment to Ireland and was stationed at the Curraugh Camp, and afterwards in Dublin, Limerick, Cahir, and Waterford.

When the 16th "Queen's" Lancers were ordered to India Sergt.-Maj. Burdett volunteered to serve abroad with them and sailed in the old Indian trooper Serapis, on her last voyage out. After leaving Port Said the ship caught fire, and it was only by fighting day and night for nearly two days that the ship was saved at all.

Soon after arrival, the R.S.M. was attached to "K" Battery for a course of gunnery and gun laying. He served for six years in Lucknow. He was also detailed as personal orderly to the late Earl Roberts during the great cavalry manoeuvres, when the latter was making his farewell inspection of the troops in India, and was also orderly to Sir George Luck, when inspector-general of cavalry. When the present Czar of Russia, accompanied by Prince George of Greece, visited India he was selected as the sergeant of their body guard during their stay in Lucknow. When the Terah expedition was ordered he was detailed for duty as transport conductor, and at the conclusion of the war was detailed to attend the school of musketry and qualified as an instructor in musketry, and also obtained an instructor's certificate for machine guns. On returning to his regiment, he was appointed musketry instructor to the regiment. On the outbreak of the Boer War the regiment was ordered to leave for the front "at 24 hours' notice," and on arrival at Durban were ordered to proceed to Port Elizabeth, being the first regiment of cavalry to land at this point, afterwards joining Lord Methuen's force. When Lord Roberts took over command at Modder River the regiment was detailed as part of the force placed at the disposal of Sir John French to relieve Kimberley, which he did by marching 100 miles and fighting three battles in 96 hours, on one day's rations, afterwards taking part in the battle of Paardeburg, etc. After Mafeking was relieved, Sergt.-Maj. Burdett was sent to take charge of the guard taking prisoners to St. Helena. He was next ordered to England to take charge of a machine gun section to protect to China for the Boxer Rebellion, but did not reach there, the ship receiving orders to change her course and proceed as quickly as possible to S.A. On rejoining his regiment, he took part in the various drives after De Wet, and also in the operations against the Cape rebels, during which time his regiment lost a lot of men from snipers. At the conclusion of the war, he was elected for duty on the headquarters staff of the Transvaal government, and assisted in the organisation of the Transvaal Volunteers, being appointed staff sergeant-major to the Imperial Light Horse, and was soon after promoted staff quartermaster-sergeant, and afterwards to regimental sergeant-major, which position he held until he came to Canada. On arrival in Saskatoon, he joined the 29th Light Horse and was promoted senior sergeant-major in "D" Squadron, under Major Mansell. On the outbreak of the present war, he was appointed Instructor to the 29th Light Horse. He is now battalion sergeant-major of the 65th.

LADIES

You demand Fresh Meats from your butcher and grocer. All the butchers and the large grocers patronize the Ice Company, otherwise they would lose your patronage and risk a visit from the health inspector.

You owe it to your family and the tradespeople you patronize to keep the goods in equally good condition in your own home by buying ice from the
